Reading is Learning

connect

Reading aloud from birth provides a unique opportunity to connect with your little ones.

engage

Entertaining formats and captivating stories engage your little one's imagination and develop their interests.

inspire

Beautiful illustrations and partnerships with exciting brands inspire a lifelong love of reading and learning.

celebrate

Special books encourage little ones to celebrate and share their holiday, cultural, and religious traditions.

At Cottage Door Press, we believe in a simple philosophy: reading is learning.

Our books are designed to spark curiosity in the littlest readers and fan the flames of lifelong learning. We understand children deserve our respect. That's why we always select artwork and stories that encourage caregivers to "read up" to their little ones—exploring interests together, learning together, and giving their young minds room to grow.

We believe reading, especially reading together, is a crucial tool for learning. But we also believe there's more to it than conceptual learning. Time spent exploring books fosters moments of connection, understanding, compassion, joy, and love between you and your little one—moments that help all people, but especially the small ones, understand the world today and look forward to exploring it tomorrow.

Reading is learning and so much more.

We are proud of our award-winning formats and products for the youngest readers, and since our acquisition of Parragon in 2018, we are also very excited to offer select puzzle and cookbook titles for adults.

Our industry-leading expertise in Novelty Board and Sound & Electronic Book formats, and focus on key early-literacy content areas, make us a perfect partner for licensing and other collaborations. The work we do inspires us, but our partnerships inspire us, too. We are proud to count the Fred Rogers Company, PBSKids, the Smithsonian Institution, John Deere, and the Jane Goodall Institute as key licensing partners.

Our focus for 2021 will be expanding our core catalog of early learning, seasonal, and religious titles while developing new formats and content areas. We will strengthen existing partnerships and nurture new ones.

Reading is learning... but the real magic is in the bond that forms when books are shared—between a child and a book, a child and a caregiver, a child and imagination. That's why we are committed to ensuring that every time you and your little one open up a book from Cottage Door Press, you'll find a place to spend some time together—to explore, to imagine, to understand, to love.
